Easy to Use

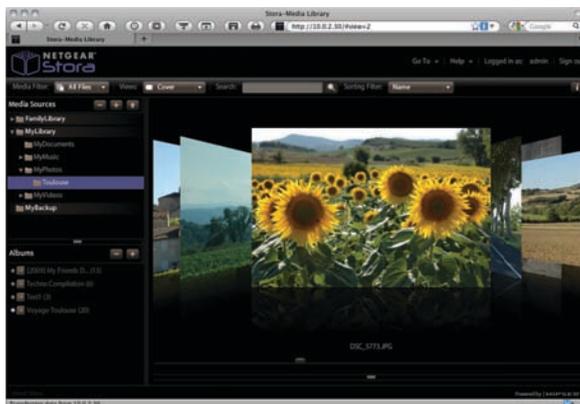

Experts need not apply. This system is designed for first-time users who don't want to learn server administration as a hobby. Plug in the system, run the CD - that's it. Now you can share data between home computers, automatically back them up, share photos over the web and access your content from other network devices. Even upload items to Facebook®!

Access your Stora from anywhere!

Connecting with your digital media and important files while away from home has never been easier!

Enjoy content from Stora at home, while on the road

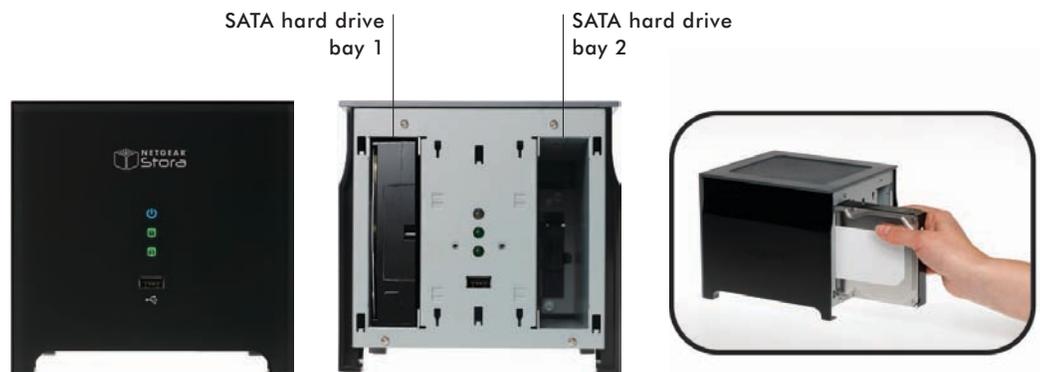

Connect over the Internet to play media from your personal library. Never be without the latest and greatest updates to your song lists, movies or photos!

Upload and download files with ease

Drag and drop from your laptop to your Stora from anywhere with an Internet connection. Download straight from your Stora - never be without the data you need again!

Plug-and-play Protection

Putting all of your precious data in one digital basket might be more than you want to risk. But don't worry, because Stora supports a second hard drive to mirror the first. You can double your protection whenever you want. And you can do it on the fly, without copying or moving any data. Alternatively, you can use the second disk to add extra capacity without protection, when you need it. With Stora, the choice is yours.

Low Power Consumption, High Performance

Stora is not only quiet enough to live anywhere in the home and it's designed for minimal power consumption while still delivering the high performance you need. Stora also has the ability to spin down its disks after a period of inactivity and has a power on/off timer so you can set it to shut down when it's not needed to save even more power.

Unleash the power of your home network with Stora

Stream a movie to your games console. Download that important file from the airport. Play your music collection in your hotel room. Upload your pictures from the beach, then share them with your friends or Facebook®. Stora puts it all in your own hands!
